Shelby County, TN – On Thursday, July 28th, at 5:30 p.m., Shelby County Mayor Lee Harris and DeAndre Brown, director of the Shelby County Office of Re-Entry, will host a town hall meeting to discuss plans for a transitional home for re-entry clients. Community members are encouraged to attend, offer input, and ask questions. The panel will include representatives from law enforcement, community agencies, and ex-offenders currently served by the Office of Re-Entry.

DeAndre Brown, Director of the Shelby County Office of Re-Entry: “Effective transitional housing must have structure and oversight and part of that oversight will be guided by the South Memphis community’s input. We are committed to creating an environment that ensures a mutually beneficial relationship between the community and the re-entry clients who will use this housing facility.”
